- Read the following passage carefully.

Men and women study monkeys and other animals in a lab. One day a man put a puzzle in a monkey's cage. The monkey took the puzzle apart and the man gave her a slice of banana. That was her reward.

The monkey didn't eat the banana slices, but she just put them in her cage. After the monkey did most of the puzzles, the man ran out of banana slices. But the monkey kept on doing the puzzles. This time the monkey put a slice of banana outside her cage for the man! She kept on until she had returned all the bananas.

The man learned that some monkeys don't do puzzles only to get food. They do puzzles for the fun of it – just like you and me!
